LABORING FOR A LEAGUE.

Parnell and Davitt Pulverizing and Dilly-Dallying before a Large Assemblage at Dublin—Purposes and Effects of the Irish Conference.

[illegible]

"... Parnell ... referred to the purpose for which the $125,000 was expended ... [illegible]

Egan's statement of funds shows a total of £244,... passed through his hands. Of this sum there was disbursed in relieving distress in '79 and '80, ...; in defense of the state trials over £20,000; ... expenditures through ... land league ... and ladies' league £115,000, leaving a balance of ...

Parnell and Davitt were received with tremendous cheers by the delegates. Nearly all the extreme Irish members of parliament were present. Attendance of delegates was large.

Parnell in his address to the conference corrected the impression that nothing was being done for evicted tenants. Since the dissolution of the ladies' league £2274 had been spent in relieving a hundred families and they have been placed in a position to avail themselves of the benefits of the arrears act.

Brennan and Sexton were appointed secretaries of the conference. Numbers of letters and telegrams from America approving the movement were read. Letters were also received from several Catholic bishops, apologizing for their absence and expressing confidence in the leaders of the movement. Parnell then submitted a programme of the conference and reviewed its proposals.

It was proposed that increased taxes should be placed on grass lands, and that all covenants against tilling should be declared void. The conference unanimously adopted the amendment to the programme about the payment of the Irish party in the house of commons.

Parnell wished to affirm his first utterance on the public platform until he has attained for the people of Ireland the right to make their own laws. They would never otherwise be in accordance with their wishes. No solution of the land question could be final that did not grant the farmers the right of becoming owners of their holdings by purchase.

He estimated the amendment to the Healy clause would result in an average of 20 per cent further reduction in judicial decrees fixing rent. He said the Irish party required 85 men to be members in parliament, but they could not hope for this till the franchise was placed on the basis of household suffrage. In relation to the reports of English papers with regard to alleged differences with their allies in America, Parnell denied there had been any dictation from that quarter. He for one would obey such a dictation, on what points they might have differed, they had agreed to leave the same to the Irish people. Despite the most tyrannical coercion the world had ever seen, they would attain the measures on which they had set their hearts.

The scheme for the establishment of the Irish national league was adopted.

Davitt then addressed the conference. He spoke in somewhat more ... terms than Parnell. He declared that until the land which was stolen from the people was restored to the whole people as national property there could be no final and satisfactory settlement of the land question. At the same time he wished it distinctly understood this declaration did not separate him from Parnell on the land question.

Effect of the Meeting.

LONDON, Oct. 18.—The Times' Dublin special dispatch says: Not only has the Irish conference excited no enthusiasm, but the assembly was composed of elements whose ... the programme was multitudinous. It was only the skillful hand of a chairman that sometimes prevented open rupture. The dissension was shown clearly enough in Parnell's opening statement and Davitt's prompt rejoinder, and the tone of bitter emphasis wherein the latter spoke, betrayed the feeling of a thorn lodging under the ... which he struggled to suppress.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Southern Oregon.

A remonstrance against the annexation of a portion of Jackson to Josephine county, as proposed by representative Thornton's bill, has been sent to Salem. It was numerously signed, but the signatures could have been increased many fold were it necessary.

The price of beef cattle has so advanced of late that in southern Oregon butchers are now compelled to ask 8, 10, and 12 cents for meat on the block. Pork sells at a bit a pound and is scarce at that. A distillery will be put in operation at Jacksonville at once. The stock is subscribed.

Teamsters are now charging two cents and upwards for hauling freight from either Myrtle creek or Roseburg to Jacksonville. They allege as the reason for this that at every place north of Jump-off-Joe 50 cents is charged for each meal, and a high price for hay. Such rates are a hardship to those engaged in teaming.

John Love, residing near Jacksonville, owns twenty-one sheep from which about 100 pounds of wool were sheared not long since, or an average of nearly 10 pounds per head. The fleece of one of the wethers weighed 15 pounds. These sheep are not merino, but the secret of this handsome yield is the good treatment they received.

Two bids for building the foundation of the new court house for Jackson county have been submitted to the county commissioners—one by M. F. Steadman, for $7500, and the other by A. S. Jacobs, for $6000. The former finally offered to do the work for $6000, but the commissioners did not see fit to accept the bid, deeming all of them too high.

The following facts and figures are taken from the assessment roll of Jackson county: Value of improved lands, $658,985; unimproved lands, $144,531; town lots, $42,982; improvements, $264,509; merchandise and implements, $306,435; money, notes and accounts, $794,277; household furniture, etc., $40,755; horses and mules, $119,805; cattle, $72,325; sheep, $31,961; swine, $21,077. Gross value of property, $2,464,881; indebtedness, $566,553; exemptions, $213,610. Total taxable property, $1,684,334. Number of polls, 971.

Bybee, Newman & Hawkett, of Josephine county, have their new ditch almost finished, with the exception of fluming, for which 30,000 feet of lumber will be necessary. The old ditch will next be repaired and enlarged, and everything is expected to be in readiness for extensive operations before the 1st of January next. Two giants will then be used ... about four months, while there will be enough water for one several months longer. This company have some of the best ground in Josephine county, being located in a rich mining region not far from Waldo.

The commissioners of Jackson county have made the following tax levy: For state purposes ... mills, ... county purposes, 7 mills; ... building fund, 5 mills; school fund, 3 mills. Total, ... mills. Poll tax ... The ... tax levied for building purposes will raise in the neighborhood of $5000, which added to the amount already on hand in the building fund, will make ... available early next spring. With the increase in the assessed amount of property anticipated during next year, the county commissioners can easily pay ... the cost of the new court house without raising the taxes at all.

The following is the list of assessable property of Josephine county, 1882: Acres of land, 27,544; ... Total value, $187,131. Average value, $6.912. Town lots, $7,592. Improvements, $50,466. THURSDAY MORNING OCT. 19, 1882

THE SAFE [illegible] HONORABLE WAY.

[illegible] the last day [illegible] Members of the legislature [illegible] performed with all regard to the wishes of the [illegible] his attractions [illegible] have most ardently [illegible] in fully that when the last hope of electing him is gone they must act for the state, for their party and for their own reputation.

His manager's [illegible] under the hope which constantly grows more feeble that some turn of affairs will result to his advantage. There is no [illegible] deed, that the republican members who have thus far refused to vote for him will give him their support, but [illegible] on the democrats [illegible] adherents are still assured by him that the democrats will yet furnish votes enough to supply his deficiency? It is forgotten, as heretofore, that in no way consistent with honor can any one democrat or republican who has so far opposed him ever cast a vote for him. The opposition to him rests on grounds which render that wholly impossible. What man, who has thus far opposed him through objections to his character as a man, his methods as a politician and his course and conduct of life, can ever consent to vote for him?

The situation is one in which the representative's view of public duty must rise with rapidly increasing force over private wishes. A conscientious devotion to public duty may forbid the representative to vote for a particular man; in fact this motive has ever been present with those who have declined to vote for J. H. Mitchell. But no view of public duty can require the representative to support one candidate against all others, or to adhere to him when there is no hope of his success. Herein is the broad difference between those who are not voting for Mitchell and those who are. The former would surrender a principle if they voted for him, while the latter would surrender no principle by voting for some one else. No principle requires adherence on an occasion like this to a particular man. On the contrary, a just view of representative duty, a view which no representative can ignore, requires an effort to arrive at a result without regard to the effect upon any individual's wishes or fortunes.

It rests with those who are urged not to permit the election of a senator unless a particular man can be elected to decide what shall be done. The power is in their hands; theirs the responsibility. They can settle this controversy, if they see fit, in a way at once honorable to themselves, satisfactory to the republican party and creditable to the state. Peace, good-will and a united republican party will follow the election of any one of a dozen or score of able, worthy and excellent men whom anyone might name. There is no protest against any man at all likely to be named for the position; the only protest is against J. H. Mitchell. He alone is the source and cause of all the contention ever known in the republican party of this state. He has kept the party in turmoil for years; he has brought upon it one defeat after another; and now, in his all-absorbing selfishness, he has precipitated upon it a contest which strains party ties and associations to the utmost, and makes it difficult for members of the party, after so bitter contention, to act together in future with the degree of confidence and harmony necessary to insure success. No such contest ought to have been forced. It was a great mistake to permit him to do it. To the republican party of Oregon, J. H. Mitchell has been an instrument of discord, a cause of contention, division and defeat, ever since his active participation in politics began; and the only way to secure a harmonious and united party for the future is to retire him from politics. Now that the job is in hand there could be no time so good to retire him as now. These contests in the republican party ought to cease. On one simple condition they will terminate, namely, the retirement of the man who is the sole cause of them. Does any one who desires the success of the republican party wish to go into future elections upon the lines of division and with the spirit of hostility which this contest has created? If not, then the prudent thing is to retire J. H. Mitchell now. Should he be elected, as some still profess to hope, there would be small probability of harmony in the party for years to come, but on the contrary a repetition of its former dissensions and defeats. Should there be adjournment without an election, this controversy would be carried into the next general election, with what consequence it requires no prophet to tell. They are the true friends of the republican party who would advise and protect it against this peril. No one attempts to dictate who shall be chosen. It is in the hands of those who have voted five weeks in vain for the only man against whom any real protest would have been made. That they will act need not be doubted; because as sensible men they cannot return to their homes with the statement that they stood solely for the wishes and interests of one man, and could see nothing else. We predict they will act from a higher view of representative duty.

An English statistician who has been making the South American states a subject of special study reports that their population is now 28,010,351, or a little more than half that of this republic. Brazil has nearly as much population as all the other South American states together. According to Drs. Behm and Wagner, the total population of America is 100,415,400, or nearly one-fourteenth of the population of the entire globe, which is estimated at 1,433,887,500, although the estimate of some statisticians is one-seventh less. Drs. Behm and Wagner distribute the world's population as follows: Europe, 327,743,400; Asia, 795,591,000; Africa, 205,823,200; America, 100,415,400; Australia and Polynesia 4,232,000; Polar regions, 82,500. Their figures for China are 371,200,000 or about 50,000,000 less than old estimates.

The Philadelphia Times says: "After the salmon of the northwest rivers are practically destroyed, there will undoubtedly be a great effort to pass and enforce protective legislation in order to save, if possible, this delicious food fish from utter extermination. But a little common sense and a [illegible] now and strictly enforced, would [illegible] the subject now and strictly enforced, would be a much more effective remedy than a whole volume of statutes after the fish are destroyed." It justly adds that "the present methods of salmon fishing on the Columbia river are nothing but the most shameful and wasteful butchery."

From a high English authority it is learned that nearly 3500 sailing vessels and steamers have been lost throughout the world during the last two years, and that of these more than 300 have never been heard from since their last sailing [illegible] American and Canadian waters [illegible] the [illegible] generally [illegible]

An [illegible] asks, "Why is it that a driver always sits on the right side of the wagon?" Probably because the driver likes the [illegible] in politics [illegible] But the party [illegible] which the boss [illegible] the wagon [illegible] takes the right [illegible] and crowds the boss off.

VOTING QUALIFICATIONS.

It is [illegible] the provisions of the constitutions of the several states which regulate the right of suffrage. They are more [illegible] than one who has never given the subject attention would imagine. [illegible] In Delaware a voter must have resided two years next before the election, paid a county tax which shall have been assessed at least [illegible] before the election, but persons between the ages of 21 and 22 who are otherwise qualified may vote without the payment of any tax. In Oregon an elector may vote in any county of the state for state officers. Pennsylvania has the same provision as Delaware regarding the payment of taxes. In Rhode Island naturalized citizens in order to vote must be possessed of a freehold of $134 or renting for $7 per annum and have resided one year in the state and six months in the town or city. Native born citizens may vote upon the same qualifications; they may also vote without the property qualification if they have resided two years in the state and six months in the town or city, have been registered on or before the last day of December preceding the election, and have within one year paid taxes amounting to $1 or served at least one day in the militia. In New Hampshire persons who at their own request are excused from paying taxes cannot vote. A voter in Massachusetts is required to pay a poll tax, and to be able to read the constitution in English and write his name. In Michigan civilized Indians not members of any tribe are entitled to vote. The constitution of Minnesota extends the elective franchise to Indians and persons of mixed white and Indian blood who have adopted the language, customs and habits of civilization. The Connecticut voter must be "able to read any article of the constitution."

Hubbell, whose trade mark is Jay, has issued, in the name of the congressional committee and the republican party, a campaign text book, with a copy of which we have been favored. And yet it is a book which we infer almost any citizen would be glad to do without. It is really one of the most finished compilations of billingsgate ever given to the country, being devoted in large part to scurrilous attacks upon those republicans who refuse to obey the bosses and follow the machine. For instance, Hubbell refers to George William Curtis as a "bulldozer," "willful libeller," "ballot-box stuffer," "hypocrite," "friend of the southern oligarchy," "a Joseph Surface," "a Bois Guilbert" and a "Front de Bœuf," and classes free trade with slavery and secession, denounces all civil service reformers as "noodles," and ascribes the passage of the act forbidding assessments to a conspiracy of confederate brigadiers. At the risk of being called a "traitor" THE OREGONIAN must humbly ask leave to doubt whether this great politico-literary achievement, though called a text-book and coming from the congressional committee with its endorsement, furnishes the particular teaching which the republican party requires just at this time.

The statement of yesterday that the new charter proposed to place in the hands of the mayor the sole power to make police appointments was an error. All appointments will require confirmation by the common council.

MARION COUNTY SENTIMENT.

Letter in Salem Statesman.

TURNER, Oct. 15, 1882.

I see that some papers are considerably exercised over the action of the eighteen in the senatorial contest now going on at the capital. From the standpoint that these men view the situation, it is a desperate thing; but there are always two sides to most questions, and this is not an exception to the general rule. In the first place, members of the legislature are expected to reflect the sentiments of their constituents, and, being somewhat acquainted with the circumstances surrounding the canvass and the election of members from Marion county, I believe they are honestly representing a large majority of their constituents, and I am satisfied further that they would not do otherwise, for they would gain nothing in such a course, and I presume they have as good a chance to know the sentiments of these people as some one from Portland, Astoria, Oregon City, Washington territory or any of the horde of lobbyists who have deserted their official trust and come down like the frogs of Egypt and surrounded the capital. Now, from recent events it will be seen that these "bosses" abound in the land, which is evinced by the action in New York and Pennsylvania, where there is a growing opposition among the masses, and the same is true in Oregon. When the legislature met it was found that upon promises, pleadings and other means the wishes of the people were to be sacrificed for the sake of "one man," and that he held the organization of that body in his hand, from speaker to page, and accomplished this through adroit manipulations. The members were sought to be driven into caucus and surrender their individuality, and sacrifice the wishes of their constituents by voting for that one man with an apparent majority which was obtained by inducements held out by those who had important measures they wished to carry out, that the only means to successfully carry them out were to fall into line under the "boss," and that if they did not, their measures would be defeated, hence the stand taken by the eighteen. Now we are making history, and our action will go on record. We would not have a man thrust upon us who has a history, which is in there [illegible] remembrance of us all—a man who, through a similar cause, was elected to the U. S. senate in 1872 and the history of the next four years proved the fallacy of the action of the legislature at that time, and we believe that a similar result would follow a similar action at this time; hence the position taken by the eighteen that they will vote for any honorable representative man who is a known republican of Oregon, but they will not support John H. Mitchell. It is said that the democrats are in favor of Mitchell. This we believe to be true if they cannot elect their [illegible] democrat, for they well know that if Mitchell is elected by the republicans they will elect at the next general election, as they did in 1874 and in 1876. Although the democratic papers are finding fault with the OREGONIAN, Statesman and Farmer for their stand against Mitchell, in the event of his election they would use the same articles in the next campaign against the republican party, and prove beyond contradiction that the republicans elected a man notwithstanding the knowledge of the fact that high and responsible office who was accused of fraud, bigamy, desertion of his lawful wife, and of being a corrupt senator, and using his official position to obtain large sums of money; all of which [illegible] they will prove and hold the facts like a club over the head of the republican party in the next campaign. Now, in view of these facts set forth we [illegible] that the eighteen are fully justified [illegible] and further, they are sustained by the leading papers, such as the Statesman, OREGONIAN, Farmer and [illegible] republican papers, which have done [illegible] to mould the politics of the country, while on the other hand, the papers that are giving aid to Mitchell are that class of papers that are merchantable; for instance the Town Talk, which tried to give the legislative ticket of Marion county to the democrats last year.

A WORD FROM POLK.

DALLAS, Or., Oct. 17, 1882.

To the Editor of the Oregonian:

A small coterie of active Mitchell advocates have been active the past few days in circulating a petition in this county requesting the Polk county members and others of the opposition to vote for Mitchell rather than for a democrat or defeat an election. The Public comments upon this exhibit: There has been only five weeks on record of any that embraced the first of the month in which the exchanges outside of New York were as large as they were in the second week of October, 1881. Since it is not very surprising that the returns for the second week of October, 1882, show a decrease in comparison outside of this city exclusively. In comparison of stock speculation the whole transactions last week are remarkably large. It can be said that business is depressed when exchanges outside of New York exceed three hundred million dollars in a week, and the activity may not be entirely healthy, when the volume of business appears in the second week of month the evidence of extraordinary activity is still stronger. The fact remains, nevertheless, that the high tide of business this season is not quite as high as that of last October. Exclusive of 16 cities fell below those of the corresponding week last year and yet every city of those which report an increase is especially noted for its manufacture, unless we except Kansas City, where the growth of wholesale trade has been remarkable. Substantially it may be said that manufacture in nearly every branch appears to be doing more than ever before, while all cities which rely mainly upon commerce give indication that its volume is not as large as it was a year ago. Prices during the first week of October were about two-fifths per cent lower this year than in the corresponding week last year, so that the volume of business measured in quantities transferred was as large as it was a year ago: at five of the cities which report smaller exchanges in breadstuffs, especially. This decline in prices has been greater than the decrease in the exchange at Chicago, St. Louis and Milwaukee. In view of this fact the exchanges for the last week reflect a more satisfactory condition of business in some respects than they did a year ago, while the decrease in volume is quite small.

Eastern Freight Situation.

NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—Notwithstanding the threatening weather there has been a fair business done at the wharves of California vessels and both the Aster J. Benson and Gerrard C. Tobey have made considerable headway, and the former will certainly get away this week. Shipments are still largely of raw material for manufacturing purposes. Rates remain unchanged, but are firmer in consequence of higher rates paid for late charters. Tonnage is still scarce, particularly for spot vessels. No charters to note for the Pacific trade. Overland freights active.

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Unsettled weather still prevails, and as a consequence there is very little doing in the California freight market via Cape Horn. The fact is that the market at its best is very quiet, and it does not require stormy weather to assist it. Ships are doing fairly, still they are not being pushed, as vessels to follow are barely ready for freight. Rates remain steady at last quotations. Tonnage for long voyages is still very scarce, and there are not many vessels pointing this way. Ships J. B. Thomas, St. Paul and St. Mark, heretofore reported as to load at this port, accepted other business on their arrival at Liverpool, the former going to Calcutta and the two latter to San Francisco direct. The Enos Soule, at Boston, is waiting for 600 tons of coal, which will be on board in a few days.

THE MARKET OUTLOOK.

In some depths of some trade, business is up to the equal average at this season, while in others it shows signs of backwardness, though not to an extent that calls forth apprehension from conservative merchants. Distribution of the necessaries of life has been very regular throughout the season, the purchasing in most cases having been limited to near wants of dealers, and stocks will thus require constant renewing.

A marked absence of speculation tends to give general markets an aspect of quietude that is hardly warranted by actual transactions or by bank clearings, which showed an increase in this city during the past week of 23 per cent, compared with corresponding week last year.

Philadelphia, Pittsburg and most of the manufacturing centers of New England also show small gains, whereas the principal western and southern cities show a decrease. As a whole the exhibit is a favorable one, showing that the general trade movement is fairly well sustained. The export movement, on the other hand, has been held in check by speculative manipulations of leading agricultural staples, most of which are maintained above par of leading Atlantic markets. Money is easy, but the supply of loanable funds is still light. The finances in the treasury increased the past week to more than $7,000,000, of which $1,300,000 only was transfer of legal tender notes from Washington. Cotton has further declined. Wheat, corn and refined petroleum easier. Lard oil has advanced 1 to 5 cents per gallon. Rosin is quiet and firm. Hides are firm and leather steady. Hops have further advanced. Hog products are also firm. Wool is inactive. Foreign and domestic dried fruits are steady. Drugs and dyes in fair jobbing demand and generally steady. Raw sugar is in moderate request and firmly held; refined is fairly active at further decline. Molasses is quiet. Coffee is steady but quiet on spot, while options were dull and weak. Tea is inactive at private sale, at large offerings by public auction; the price is steady. Spices are firmly held but quiet. Pig iron dull. Tin barely steady. Copper and lead are quiet.

"DON'T KNOW HALF THEIR VALUE."

"They cured me of ague, biliousness and kidney complaint, as recommended. I had half a bottle left which I used for my two little girls, who the doctors and neighbors said could not be cured. I would have lost both of them one night if I had not given them Hop Bitters. They did them so much good I continued their use until they were cured. That is why I say you do not know half the value of Hop Bitters, and do not recommend them high enough."—B., Rochester, N. Y. See other column.—American Rural Home.

THE ALBINA HOMESTEAD is situated adjoining Albina, and between and fronting on with the extension of [illegible] street, East Portland, and the Vancouver road. All the lots in Blocks 26, 27, 28, 29 and 30 are 50x120 feet, with twenty-foot alleys through the blocks. All the other lots are 50x100 feet. The streets are wide and have all been cleared, while the lots are high and level and can be very easily cleared.

We now offer for sale for a short time a limited number of these lots and Blocks at reasonable prices and on easy terms.

THE ALBINA HOMESTEAD is unquestionably the best field for investment and the most desirable place for location now in the market. Its close proximity to the cities of Portland and East Portland, and the heavy improvements now being carried on by the various companies, under the direction of Mr. Villard—the Dry Dock, Elevators, Machine Shops and other works of these companies—its nearness also to the Albina ferry, together with the proposed Multnomah Railway from I street ferry, in E. Portland, and from Albina, will make this property very accessible from all parts of these cities. These advantages will necessarily attract a large population, and in the meantime make this the most popular and valuable suburban property in this vicinity, while in the near future it must furnish homes for the rapidly increasing population of Albina, and then its value will be at least five times what we now offer it for. The property and full information given to all who may apply to E. Brig Sarah B Hall

The steamship State of California is on the dry dock at Broadway street wharf, San Francisco and will undergo the regular overhauling before taking her place on the line with others.

Anxiety is felt in shipping circles at San Francisco for the safety of the German ship Mary Winkelman, which left this port on a ... ... taking ... ... in the Oriental ... Marsh. She is owned by Nicholas ... and ... city. Since sailing, she has not been heard from.

The steamer Yaquina, recently purchased by the Pacific Coast Steamship Company, will be placed on the route between San Francisco and Portland.

Clearing House Statistics.

New York, Oct 18.—The clearing house returns for the past week as compared with the corresponding week last year show the following gains and losses:

	GAINS
New York	2	Hartford
Philadelphia	7	New Haven
Pittsburg		Worcester
Providence		Lowell
Kansas City	14

	LOSSES
Boston	16	Milwaukee
Chicago	4	Cleveland
Cincinnati	2	Indianapolis
St Louis	6	Columbus
Baltimore	2	Peoria
San Francisco	7	Memphis	26 9
New Orleans	2	Springfield
Louisville	1	Syracuse

The Public comments upon this exhibit: There has been only five weeks on record of any that embraced the first of the month in which the exchanges outside of New York were as large as they were in the second week of October 1881. Since it is not very surprising that the returns for the second week of October 1882, show a decrease in comparison on that side of this city exclusively. In comparison of stock speculation the whole transactions last week are remarkably large. It can be said that business is depressed when exchanges outside of New York exceed three hundred million dollars a week and the activity may not be entirely healthy when the volume of business appears in the second week of a month the evidence of extraordinary activity is still stronger. The fact remains nevertheless that the high tide of business this season is not quite as high as that of last October. Exchanges of 16 cities ... below those of the corresponding week last year and yet every city of those which report an increase is especially noted for its manufacture unless we except Kansas City, where the growth of wholesale trade has been remarkable. Substantially it may be said that manufacture in nearly every branch ... appears to be doing more than ever before while all cities which rely mainly upon commerce ... indication that its volume is not as large as it was a year ago. Prices during the first week of October were about two-fifths per cent lower this year than in the corresponding week last year so that the volume of business measured in quantities transferred was as large as it was a year ago at five of the cities which report smaller exchanges in breadstuffs especially. This decline in prices has been greater than the decrease in the exchange at Chicago, St Louis and Milwaukee. In view of this fact the exchanges for the last week reflect a more satisfactory condition of business in some respects than they did a year ago while the decrease in volume is quite small.

Eastern Freight Situation.

New York, Oct 17.—Notwithstanding the threatening weather there has been a fair business done at the wharves of California vessels and both the Abner I. Benson and Gerrard Tobey have made considerable headway and the former will certainly get away this week. Shipments are still largely of raw material for manufacturing purposes. Rates remain unchanged, but are firmer in consequence of higher rates paid for late charters. Tonnage is still scarce particularly for spot vessels. No charters to note for the Pacific trade. Overland freights active.

New York, Oct. 18.—Unsettled weather still prevails, and as a consequence there is very little doing in the California freight market via Cape Horn. The fact is that the market at its best is very quiet, and it does not require stormy weather to assist it. Ships are doing fairly still they are not being pushed, as vessels to follow are barely ready for freight. Rates remain steady at last quotations. Tonnage for long voyages is still very scarce and there are not many vessels pointing this way. Ships J B Thomas, St Paul and St Mark heretofore reported as to load at this port accepted other business on their arrival at Liverpool, the former going to Calcutta and the two latter to San Francisco direct. The Enos Soule at Boston is waiting for 500 tons of coal which will be on board in a few days.

THE MARKET OUTLOOK

In some departments of some trade business is up to the equal average at this season while in others it shows signs of backwardness though not to an extent that calls forth apprehension from conservative merchants. Distribution of the necessaries of life has been very regular throughout the season the purchasing in most cases having been limited to near wants of dealers and stocks will thus require constant renewing.

A marked absence of speculation tends to give general markets an aspect of quietude that is hardly warranted by actual transactions or by bank clearings which showed an increase in this city during the past week of 35 per cent compared with corresponding week last year.

Portland, the Pittsburg and most of the manufacturing centers of New England also show small gains whereas the principal western and southern cities show a decrease. As a whole the exhibit is a favorable one showing that the general trade movement is fairly well sustained. The export movement on the other hand has been held in check by speculative manipulators of leading agricultural staples most of which are maintained above par of leading Atlantic markets. Money is easy but the supply of loanable funds is still light. The business in the treasury increased the past week ... more than $7,000,000 of which $1,000,000 only was transfer of legal tender notes from Washington. Cotton has further declined. Wheat, corn and ... Lard oil has advanced ... gallon. Rosin is quiet and firm. Hides ... and leather steady. Hops have further advanced. Hog products are also firm. Wool is ... Foreign and domestic dried fruits are steady. ... and dyes in fair jobbing demand and generally steady. Raw sugar is in moderate request ... firmly held; refined is fairly active at a further decline. Molasses is quiet. Coffee is steady on spot, while ... inactive at private sales at large ... Spices are ... Pig iron ... Tin ... Copper and lead are ...

THE ALBINA HOMESTEAD is situated next to Albina and between and fronting on both the extension of ... street, East Portland, and the Vancouver road. All the lots in Blocks 25, 26, 28, 29 and 30 are 50x120 feet, with twenty-foot alleys through the blocks. All the other lots are 50x100 feet. The lots are ... and have all been cleared, while the lots are high and level and can be very easily cleared.

We now offer for sale for a short time a limited number of these Lots and Blocks at reasonable prices and on easy terms.

THE ALBINA HOMESTEAD is unquestionably the best field for investment and the most desirable place of location now in the market. Its close proximity to the cities of Portland and East Portland, and to the heavy improvements now being carried out by the various companies under the direction of Mr. Villard—the Dry Docks, Elevators, Machine Shops and other works of these companies. Its nearness also to the Albina Ferry, together with the proposed Multnomah Railway from I street Ferry, in E. Portland, and from Albina will make this property very accessible from all parts of these cities. These advantages will necessarily attract a large population, and in the meantime make this the most popular and valuable suburban property in this vicinity, while in the near future it must furnish homes for the rapidly increasing population of Albina, and then its value will be at least five times what we now offer it for. The property and full information given to all who may apply to
